Raising Dec 27 PT to $60 After 3Q26 Beat & Raise

Overweight

ATMU, ATMU US
Price (05 Nov 26):$46.16
▲Price Target (Dec-27):$60.00
Prior (Dec-27):$54.00

Our latest view: Expectations were for a guidance cut following PCAR and CMI's results, but ATMU reported a robust beat across the P&L and raised FY26 guidance; see details below. Looking into next year, based on our follow-up with management, 3Q27 should benefit from lapping the $9MM customer refunds recognized this quarter related to IEEPA refunds (i.e., core 3Q26 sales were higher by $9MM than reported numbers). The HEPA clean room orders will begin delivery in 4Q, which we expect to be a tailwind in 2027, while the new distribution facility being constructed in Florida should open up this market (previously served from Louisville) and begin to generate revenues more earnestly in 2028. We are modeling FY27/28 EBITDA and EPS at $441MM/$483MM and $3.30/$3.92, respectively. Our Dec 27 PT is now higher at $60 based on ~15x FY1 PE and ~11x FY1 EV/EBITDA, in line with the recent valuation. We rate ATMU Overweight.

ATMU (OW) posted 3Q adj. EBITDA 4% above consensus on margin and sales beats. Power Solutions sales increased 4.6% YoY to $468.1MM (vs. JPMe $461.1MM), and Industrial Solutions sales came in at $41.9MM (vs. JPMe $40.2MM). Net sales increased 13.9% YoY to $510MM (vs. consensus $501MM). 3Q adjusted EBITDA was $104.2MM (20.4% margin, flattish YoY) vs. consensus $100.4MM (20.0% margin). Unadjusted gross margin came in at 30.3% (up ~135bps YoY) vs. consensus 28.3%. 3Q adjusted EPS came in at $0.77 vs. consensus $0.73. Management raised 2026 guidance, including revenue in the range of $2.010-2.035B (up ~14.6% YoY to $2.02B at the midpoint vs. prior $1.975-$2.030B and consensus $2.01B) and adj. EBITDA margin of 19.75-20.25% (mp 20.0%, unchanged vs. consensus 20.2%) for EBITDA of ~$405MM at the mp (vs. consensus $407MM). 2026 adj. EPS is guided in the range of $2.90-3.05 (mp $2.98 vs. prior $2.85-3.00 and consensus $2.96). The 3Q print and FY26 guidance imply 4Q26 revenue up ~13.5% YoY to ~$507MM (vs. consensus $505MM), adj. EBITDA of $97MM with margin flattish YoY to 19.1% (vs. consensus $101MM at 20.1% margin), and adj. EPS of ~$0.70 (vs. consensus $0.74) at the midpoint.

Below are key highlights from the earnings conference call.

- First-fit demand is expected to remain strong into 1H27, while aftermarket conditions remain mixed. First-fit improved in 2Q and 3Q, and ATMU expects momentum to continue through 4Q and into 1H27. The outlook remains subject to uncertainty around EPA 2027, including final regulations potentially coming in December 2026 and the responses of engine manufacturers and truck OEMs. Some customers are offering both prior and new engine platforms, and ATMU is positioned on both. Other customers are moving to the new standards with a single platform. ATMU reported no supply constraints and said it is working with customers to support the transition. For 4Q, ATMU expects continued strong YoY growth in HDT and MDT markets, while the aftermarket is expected to remain relatively flat. Freight rates have improved, but freight activity has not reached an inflection point. North America, the largest aftermarket market, remains robust but relatively flat, with ATMU gaining share and outperforming. Latin America is growing faster, with ATMU also outperforming there. Conditions elsewhere are more challenging, including Europe and India, which are affected by the Middle East conflict. Diesel pickup demand is expected to face downward pressure in 4Q, but this is more than offset by HDT and MDT strength. First-fit represents ~15% of Power Solutions revenue, and pickup demand is a small portion of that business.

- Expects to remain price/cost positive while monitoring inflation and tariff effects. ATMU expects to be price/cost positive for FY26 excluding tariffs, with FY pricing expected to contribute ~1% net of tariff-related pricing impacts. The company raised prices at the beginning of the year in line with normal market practices and took a modest midyear increase. Some of the midyear benefit was offset by lapping prior-year tariffs. Input costs rose through the year and began stepping up in 2H. ATMU said it will take corresponding pricing actions if costs continue to increase, with the aim of remaining price/cost positive and preserving margins in FY27. The company also cited supply-chain efficiencies, supplier contracting, and cost reduction as ways it is managing costs. ATMU received expected IEEPA tariff refunds in 3Q and recorded the associated financial impacts. The refunds reduced revenue by ~$9MM, with a corresponding reduction in cost of sales. ~$1.5MM of refunds in gross margin largely offset previously incurred administrative expenses. ATMU expects these refund impacts to be isolated to 3Q and plans to return the refunds to customers in 4Q, consistent with its price/cost-neutral approach to tariffs. No additional material refunds are expected.
- Seasonal 4Q margin decline following strong YTD performance. YTD adjusted EBITDA margin was 20.3%, at the high end of the FY26 guidance range on a cumulative basis. Based on the FY margin guide of 19.75%-20.25%, implied 4Q margin is ~19.1% at the midpoint. ATMU cited inflation and rising input costs as factors it is monitoring. It also expects the usual seasonal decline in operating hours during 4Q, which reduces manufacturing absorption benefits. The company said similar margin step-downs occurred in FY23, FY24, and FY25 as it worked through remaining inventory and prepared for the following year. Separately, ATMU reported that net debt to adjusted EBITDA was 1.7x for the TTM ended Sept. 30. It repaid $50MM of gross debt in 3Q and another $50MM in early October, and described its debt level as at or around the appropriate level, while noting further repayment remains possible. ATMU returned $25MM to shareholders in 3Q, consisting of $20MM of share repurchases and $5MM of dividends. A new $300MM share repurchase authorization replaced the prior authorization. ATMU expects to increase repurchases and direct the majority of cash flow toward repurchases when not allocated to growth investment, subject to M&A opportunities.
- Koch Filter investments target higher-efficiency products and expanded capacity. ATMU completed the Koch Filter integration and is now focused on growth. The new HEPA filter clean room and testing capabilities at the Louisville manufacturing site support higher-efficiency products, which ATMU expects to have stronger margins and serve faster-growing applications such as healthcare. The clean room has received its first order, with benefits expected to begin in 4Q and continue beyond. ATMU has approved, but not yet made, an investment in a new Florida facility expected to open next year, with investment spending planned for 2027. Florida is the third-largest HVAC market in the US, and the facility is intended to expand Koch Filter's existing U.S. capabilities. ATMU did not provide an investment amount or capacity addition. Its acquisition focus remains industrial air, where it plans to use Koch Filter as a platform for targeted bolt-on acquisitions. ATMU also continues to evaluate industrial water and liquid filtration assets, with the objective of identifying an anchor investment.

Risks to Rating and Price Target

Downside risks. EVs and FCEVs will require lower filtration content vs. ICE, which poses key product n risk to ATMU should commercial EVs meaningfully penetrate the market. M&As are subject to uncertainty and risks, especially given ATMU's lack of a track record as a standalone company. ATMU has notable customer concentration as the top five customers accounted for ~59% of its FY25 sales.

The chart(s) show J.P. Morgan's continuing coverage of the stocks; the current analysts may or may not have covered it over the entire period.
J.P. Morgan ratings or designations: OW = Overweight, N= Neutral, UW = Underweight, NR = Not Rated

Explanation of Equity Research Ratings, Designations and Analyst(s) Coverage Universe:
J.P. Morgan uses the following rating system: Overweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will outperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); Neutral (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will perform in line with the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); and Underweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe. NR is Not Rated. In this case, J.P. Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock's expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts' coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst's coverage universe can be found on J.P. Morgan's Research website, https://www.jpmorganmarkets.com.
