Strong ICT pipeline supports revenues growth- 3Q26 earnings call takeaways

Please vote for J.P. Morgan (5 stars)

FET's 3Q26 revenue increased 13% yoy, while EBITDA and the bottom line grew at a slower rate due to investment related non-operating costs. Wireless revenue growth remains healthy with 5G migration driving ARPU reflation. Strong ICT bookings momentum with new contract wins growing 71% yoy should continue to support top-line growth. However, we note the strong ICT revenue growth in 3Q26 could be project-based which is lumpy in nature. We are OW on FET.

- Strong ICT bookings to support top-line growth. FET's 9M26 ICT project delivery revenue grew 21% yoy, driven by cloud (+37%) and smart city/IoT (+41%), while new contract wins increased 71% yoy over the same period. Management expects substantial ICT project deliveries in 4Q26 to support a strong 4Q26 print. Demand remains strong across government digital transformation, AI-enabled infrastructure and enterprise solutions. We note that ICT revenues can be project based which is resulting in the current strong growth rates. Project revenues can be lumpy in nature. However, the underlying recurring revenue growth is likely to be healthy as well given the growing ICT contracts.
- NI is impacted by non-operational factors. Despite operating profit increasing 18% yoy, net income grew only 6%, weighed down by one-off non-operating investment-related factors. Stronger merchandise sales supported revenue growth but diluted EBITDA margins to 33.9% in 3Q26, down 170bps yoy.
- Wireless fundamentals remain resilient. Mobile service revenue increased 3% yoy, supported by continued 5G migration, with postpaid 5G penetration exceeding 50%, ARPU reaching NT$736 and churn declining to 0.7%. 9M26 free cash flow reached NT$20.63bn, with net debt/EBITDA declining to 1.05x. Management expects FY26 cash capex to fall slightly below its NT$9.6 bn guidance, supporting cash generation and dividend capacity.

Far EasTone Telecom (Overweight; Price Target: NT$120.00)

Investment Thesis
We believe FET is best positioned to benefit from 5G migration-led ARPU reflation, and we anticipate earnings growth to outpace revenue growth. We believe FET can maintain its current capex intensity, which we expect to result in strong FCF generation and significant room to increase shareholder distributions. Our calculations of FCF imply that FET has room to reduce leverage and increase dividends. In our view, the Street is underestimating growth in FET's earnings and dividends. We rate FET as OW.

Valuation
Our Jun-27 PT for FET of NT$120 is derived from a forward DPS of NT$4.85 and a one-year dividend yield of 4% at a premium to local indices due to the lower growth profile of FET.

Risks to Rating and Price Target
Key downside risks:

- Increased competition is a key risk for telcos as actions of one telco to gain market share through price-based competition can result in industry-wide competition. This tends to lead to ARPU deflation, margin dilution, a decrease in FCF, and risks to dividend sustainability.
- FET could choose to pursue new growth investments rather than increasing dividends. The ROI of these investments is highly uncertain.
- Adverse regulations, including regulations on tariffs, introducing new competitors, and mandating network sharing at regulated prices.
- Mobile network quality could deteriorate if FET begins to underinvest in its network with a reduction in capex. It could have to raise capex or risk losing customers.

Explanation of Equity Research Ratings, Designations and Analyst(s) Coverage Universe:
J.P. Morgan uses the following rating system: Overweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will outperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); Neutral (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will perform in line with the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe); and Underweight (over the duration of the price target indicated in this report, we expect this stock will underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe. NR is Not Rated. In this case, J.P. Morgan has removed the rating and, if applicable, the price target, for this stock because of either a lack of a sufficient fundamental basis or for legal, regulatory or policy reasons. The previous rating and, if applicable, the price target, no longer should be relied upon. An NR designation is not a recommendation or a rating. Some stocks under coverage have a rating but no price target; in these cases, we expect the stock will outperform/perform in line/underperform the average total return of the stocks in the Research Analyst's, or the Research Analyst's team's, coverage universe of the relevant duration of the region. In our Asia (ex-Australia and ex-India) and U.K. small- and mid-cap Equity Research, each stock's expected total return is compared to the expected total return of a benchmark country market index, not to those Research Analysts' coverage universe. If it does not appear in the Important Disclosures section of this report, the certifying Research Analyst's coverage universe can be found on J.P. Morgan's Research website, https://www.jpmorganmarkets.com.
